

Turn words into sound and light at our Subsonic Algorave

An Algorave is a club-night where people create music and visuals to dance to using computer code. The evening will start with a hands-on workshop, which will soon have you making your own beats or visual patterns. We'll finish with a "Mexican Roulette" session, where everyone who wants to takes it in turn to make a tiny change to the code being run, seeing where it takes us!

The workshop will then be followed by some sets from live-coders guaranteed to get your feet moving.
